

Rich Rainaldi

Partner, Civicore

DPS Foundation board member since June 2006

Mr. Rainaldi is a partner in Civicore, a company dedicated to providing affordable and sensible technology solutions to non-profits. He is strongly committed to improving Colorado's communities through his work with Civicore and numerous non-profit organizations.

From 1991 to 1998, Rainaldi worked as a program officer for the Piton Foundation in Denver. The Piton Foundation is dedicated to improving the lives of low-income residents in Denver. At Piton, he managed several initiatives in the areas of job training, education, and youth development.

In 1998, Rainaldi left Piton to become Vice-President of Corporate Relations for U.S. Bank where he was responsible for the company's corporate philanthropy, sponsorships, media relations, and community relations. At U.S. Bank, he developed several new grant initiatives to support the technology needs of non-profits.

Rainaldi left U.S. Bank in 2000 to start CiviCore. CiviCore now provides database development services to non-profits across the United States.

He currently serves on the boards of the Colorado I Have a Dream Foundation and The Logan School for Creative Learning. He has served on the board of over a dozen non-profit organizations here in Colorado. He is a recipient of the Minoru Yasui Award for Community Service and the 2008 William Funk Award presented by the Colorado Nonprofit Association.

Rainaldi holds a degree in Economics from Harvard University and a Masters in Public Policy from the John F. Kennedy School of Government at Harvard.
