

Jeff Ross

President and CEO, Ross Aviation

DPS Foundation board member since February 2009

Over the past 16 years, Jeff Ross has led the acquisition and successful operation of a total of 14 Fixed Base Operators including Scottsdale AirCenter, Denver AirCenter, Miami Executive Aviation and five Fixed Based Operators in the Hawaiian Islands. Additionally, Ross is a managing member of the Palomar Airport Center in Carlsbad, California.

Ross also is a managing partner of CapEx, L.P., a $60 million mezzanine and equity fund based in Denver. From 1979 to 1991, he was president of the Cairn Companies, a real estate acquisition and investment firm. He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania and holds an MBA from the Wharton School of Business.

Ross has lived in Denver since 1981 and is active in community and charitable organizations. He was chairman of the Webb-Warring Board of Trustees, an officer of the Country Club Historic Neighborhood Board, and a member of Young Presidents' Organization. He is currently a board member of Alliance for Choice in Education.

Ross and his wife Mary have two children.