

Brooke Brown, Chair-elect

Community Leader

DPS Foundation board member since June 2008

Brooke Brown is currently the executive director of the Carson Foundation, a family foundation that promotes healthy and successful families with an emphasis on improving educational opportunities in the Denver community.

Brown was previously a Spanish teacher at East High School in Denver Public Schools district. She also taught at Thayer Academy in Braintree, Mass. She also co-founded Project VOYCE (Voices of Youth Changing Education) in Denver, an organization that works to engage youth in school improvement, and worked as a consultant in Mexico for the Micro-finance Development Project of the International Alliance for Women. She is a past board chair of Urban Peak and has volunteered for many youth-oriented organizations. Brown holds a master's degree in education from Harvard and a doctorate in educational leadership from the University of Colorado, Denver.