

Francisco Garcia

President, Garcia International

DPS Foundation board member since June 2005

Francisco Garcia is founder and president of Garcia International. Prior to Garcia International, he served as president and chairman of the Board of Integrated Information Technology Corporation (IITC), a technology solutions provider in Denver, which was sold to PEC Solutions, Inc. in June 2004.

Garcia has earned numerous awards including the Colorado's Small Business Administration's (SBA) "Wall of Fame" and was named Ernst & Young's 2004 Rocky Mountain Entrepreneur of the Year in the business services category.

Garcia deeply believes in providing education-related opportunities for underprivileged students. He donated an entire wireless network to Escuela de Guadalupe, a dual language elementary school in Denver, and hardware and technical expertise to Arrupe Jesuit High School in Denver.

Garcia currently serves as a board member at Escuela de Guadalupe and on the Board of Trustees of the Denver Museum of Nature and Science.
